Skipping Challenge
Have you got a skipping rope? If not, then perhaps someone in your family can find something for you to use.
Keep a record of how many skips you can do in a minute, or longer. Try this each day and keep a diary.
Can you improve?

Take the time to do something special for someone else. Perhaps you could write a letter or send an email to a family member or friend who might be lonely. Could you offer to do something to help at home without having to be asked? Try to make someone feel happy and cared for.

Learn a new skill.

What about learning to tie laces? You will need to practise little and often so that you improve each time you try.

Cut out a heart and inside draw all the people you know who are special to you. You could cut out some photos of them and stick those on if you prefer. (Make sure you ask an adult if you are going to cut up photos!)

Cut out some snowflakes.
Remember that they should have six points so you will have to cut out a circle, fold it in half and then into three more parts so that you end up with sixths!

Learn to play a new game.
If you are feeling adventurous you could invent your own.

How many words can you find in your full name?

Retell a story using puppets.
You could make your own puppets using card, wooden spoons or even socks!
Be creative.
